WE PRESENT

Around the clock

AT CAHOKIA

*Do the crabbiest sister and one could have your nose
5'9"*

Time is fleeting; it can never be recalled. Time has significance only in relation to events. Therefore we, the 1957-58 Cahochron staff, have earnestly striven to present an accurate description of the events that occurred in the space of one year's time at Cahokia High School and have made Time the theme of this yearbook.

The school day started at eight for senior high and nine for junior high. In the third hour the reading of the bulletin was a daily occurrence. Following third hour were the lunch periods. Afternoon classes were in session until three or four. Club meetings occupied the after-school hours. A few nights each week were given to athletic or social events.

The purpose of this Cahochron is to help us remember—remember our “profs,” the classes in which we worked or the classes in which we loafed, and the activities in which we took part. We shall certainly remember the constant talk of Sputniks, the stairway jams, and the gym classes held “hither and yon.” No doubt we shall laugh about the eccentricities of the few in dress and manners. We shall probably recall counting the minutes, even the seconds, as the hands of the clocks slowly approached the hour that heralded the close of another school day.

The very spring and root of honesty and virtue lie in the felicity of lighting on good education.
—Plutarch

early and lasted late for the ADMINISTRATION and FACULTY who kept the spring of CCHS wound. Around the clock these people kept our school running smoothly and efficiently page 6

Cahokia welcomes new chief

Behind the deerskin doors of our main wigwam we find our two principals, Mr. Roland Keene and Mr. Robert Cavitt. They are the ones who keep the wheels of instruction at Cahokia High rolling smoothly.

Mr. Keene is a new member of our tribe to hold the position of top chief. He received a Bachelors of Education Degree from Southern Illinois University, after which he attended Washington University. For the past eleven years he has been principal at Pinckneyville.

Mr. Robert Cavitt, our Jr. High principal, is well known and liked by the students of Cahokia. Working for the top chiefs are the efficient office girls, whose work is considered jack-of-all-trades. These girls are full of pep and have lots of energy to keep the office lively.

Our guidance and future is in the hands of the medicine man, Mr. Ruddy. We depend a great deal on him for arranging our schedules. During our senior year we go to him for our dose of medicine, as he helps us in deciding which college we are to attend. Last but far from least is Mr. Rodemich, our Curriculum Co-ordinator. He places tools of learning in the hands of the Comanches. We can thank him for our text books and our supply of films which we so enjoy.

Roland Keene, Principal

Bob Cavitt, Ass't. Principal

Eugene Rodemich, Curriculum Director. Ed Ruddy, Guidance Director.

Superintendents and board members

Many moons have passed and as we look back we see many improvements and changes on our reservation. Partly responsible for this are the two superintendents, Mr. Aaron Brien and Mr. Robert Catlett, both of whom added feathers of achievement in their war bonnets this year.

This year one of their improvements to enhance our community was to add an additional extension to our reservation. Six large, attractive classrooms were added above the junior high east wing. They were available for use at Christmas time.

Sitting in conference are the peace-pipe puffers, the board members, drawing plans in the sand for the benefit of tomorrow's Comanches.

The Board of Education is charged with the responsibility of operating the schools of our district. There are seven members, three being elected each year for a three-year term, who dutifully help CCHS maintain its high standards. Mr. Maurice Jerome presides over the Board.

We wish to thank them for helping to open the way for us and those who follow us through the golden paths of education to a brighter horizon of understanding and knowledge.

Mr. Aaron Brien, Superintendent

Mr. Robert Catlett, Ass't. Superintendent

Mr. Leo Dickerson, Mr. Harold Anglim, Mr. Phil Struense, Mr. Howard Boman, Attorney; Mr. Maurice Jerome, President; Mr. Paul Gregory, Secretary; Mr. Ira Mounce, Mr. Charles Bollinger.

CLASSES

Time Began

FOR SENIOR HIGH STUDENTS AT EIGHT when they synchronized their watches as the first bell of the day rang. An hour later, the junior high students arrived at school to start classes. The junior-senior high school's enrollment for the year had increased to a record 1,130.

Individual subjects were only an hour in length; however, in that hour many new and interesting facts were learned. The Cahokia school plant was an ideal one in which to study and the curriculum offered was varied so as to satisfy all interests. Students had the privilege of choosing an academic course, a practical arts course, or a business course. Many clock hours were spent in digging out facts, poring over books, or organizing materials for the classes.

In the following section the classes of Cahokia are presented.

Seniors complete life at Cahokia

Under the able sponsorship of Miss Helen Dunn and Mr. John Dal Santo, the senior class had a profitable year. Early in the fall the class officers were elected: Ronald Parker, president; Fred Shumake, vice president; Verlin Pendegrass, secretary; Ronnie Wilcox, treasurer; and Jay Holder, reporter.

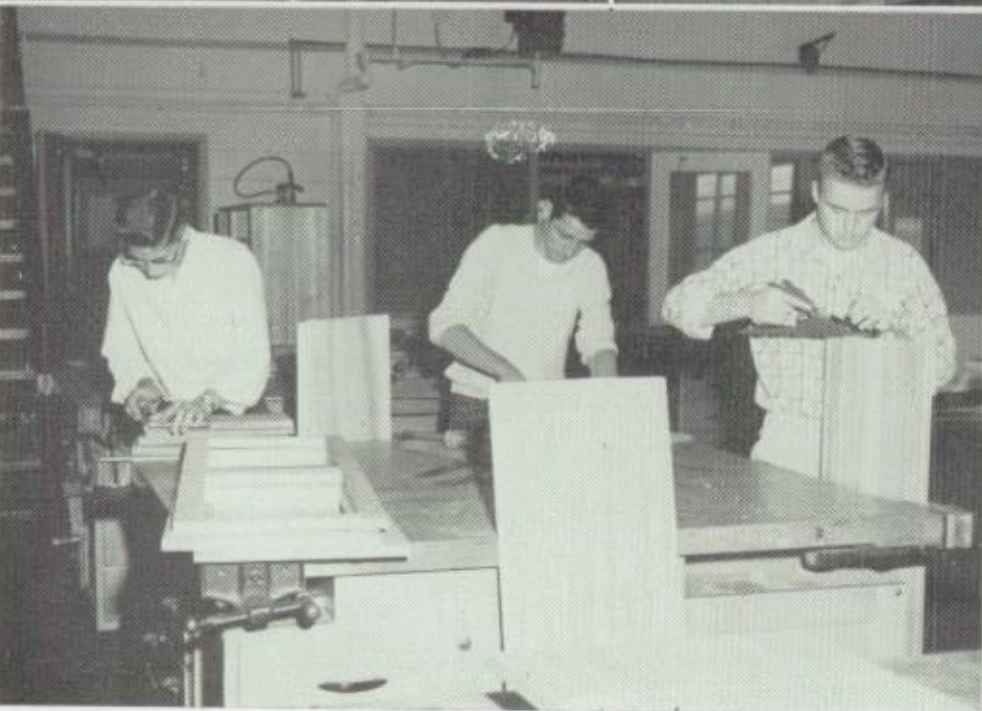

At homecoming time the alumni were given a tea by the senior advanced social studies class. Before Christmas the seniors were busily engaged in getting measured for caps and gowns and ordering graduation announcements. Soon after Christmas the seniors sponsored an all-school dance. In the spring they presented a play, which was under the direction of Mr. Charles Mayer. In May, just before graduation, came senior week and skip day. Skip day provided that long-coveted opportunity to legally stay away from school.

The seniors found their classes to be interesting as well as most worthwhile. Secretarial training and office clerical classes trained them for office work; English IV helped develop better skills in grammar and writing and prepared them for college; math and science courses were available for the budding scientists.

Sadly, but proudly, the seniors stepped aside to let the juniors become the rulers of the Comanche tribe.

To almost every freshman entering the ninth grade was like entering a new world. We were the "big-shots" in junior high. Algebra, French, Latin and Geography were offered to us for the first time since we were in junior high.

The glory of being worthy of attending the senior high dances and games was no longer denied us. We had our own cheer-leaders and teams for basketball, baseball, track, and football for the first time in junior high.

Before leaving junior high we planned with Mr. Ruddy what courses would best prepare us for our lives of tomorrow. Some planned to attend college while others will start their careers right after high school.

We leave junior high with some misgivings since we will not be as big "big-shots" in senior high as in junior high, but the anticipation of senior high brightens our horizons.

We advanced from "big wheels" to "small cogs"

Extra-curricular activities soothe

An ordinary day in the life of a student at C.C.H.S. might sometimes prove to be hectic. Running back and forth from desk to black-boards to conjugate avoir in the plu-perfect indicative tense during first hour French class is a good way to alert one's mind for the rest of the day.

Second hour might find one in solid geometry "playing with blocks," for those students use wooden models in the shape of geometric designs to help them visualize problems. Further designs of the day can be tossed off by the stroke of the brush in an art class, not really to be compared with the decorative pastry whisked in and out of the ovens in the home economics department.

Third hour might be spent in the music department playing "Nutcracker Suite" or next door in the vocal department singing "Green Pastures." And further tones during this hour will reach the ears through cracks in the doors of the typewriting rooms. Pots and pans thresh the air in preparation for the noon lunch period.

During lunch, more likely than not, one will attend a G.A.A. executive council meeting or an F.T.A. meeting, or finish memorizing the dagger speech from Macbeth. Lack of hours in the day might promote a meeting of the football squad or decisions of the "C" Club to include in their activities another service to the school. Then, if there is enough time left, one might eat lunch.

Our teachers say "You shall not run." Walking to the cafeteria is like entering a walkathon; this is one time of the day when we increase our velocity of movement. The indecision of whether to enter the lunch-plate line or the soup line creates near confusion, but either becomes satisfying.

I'll call you when I get home from school.

What do we do with all these materials?

And that's about all I have to say about it.

reading, writing and arithmetic pains

After all the activities the hot dog and baked beans serve as the combination pacifier and calorie count to finish the day. Not too much time is left for chit and chat among students who realize the responsibilities of an education and the possibilities of receiving priceless training for later years.

Fifth hour Social Studies may include a report on labor unions or a test on last week's Senior Scholastic. The post noon-hour nap is interrupted by a teacher who escorts his class to the nearest educational theater.

Occasional bruises, cuts, and scratches are the results of volley-ball during sixth hour P.E. But a quick trip to the health room will fix one up so he won't have to miss the next hour class. There is a printer in the west end of the hall demonstrating a machine that is printing those long white cards given to us at various intervals with painful designs administered by our teachers.

The seventh hour class agenda might include writing a character sketch of a famous author, reciting from memory excerpts from the prologue to Canterbury Tales, or giving a book report. Oh, yes! some names of people were to report to the office. We were in panic to determine who wants our appearance or what it was we did that met someone's disapproval. Much mental anguish became history when someone asks us our middle name for the office records.

The bell rings, and the day is over. For some it is time to return home; for others it means a meeting of the G.A.A. F.H.A. or Council Ring. But all such affairs adjourn in time to gain further nourishment to combat the fatiguing hours of the evening's homework.

ACTIVITIES

Time Began

AFTER SCHOOL WHEN EXTRA-CURRICULAR ACTIVITIES took place. The organizations of Cahokia, ranging from music to teaching, played an important part in the students' schedules. The clubs gave the students a chance to participate in wholesome play, fostered many friendships, and helped develop in the students a sense of responsibility and teamwork. In activities students were given the opportunity to learn to become good leaders as well as followers. The teachers, probably somewhat weary after a day of teaching, were advisers for the organizations.

Cahokia boasted honorary clubs as well as social clubs. Most students participated in one or more clubs although they were allowed to hold a major office in only one.

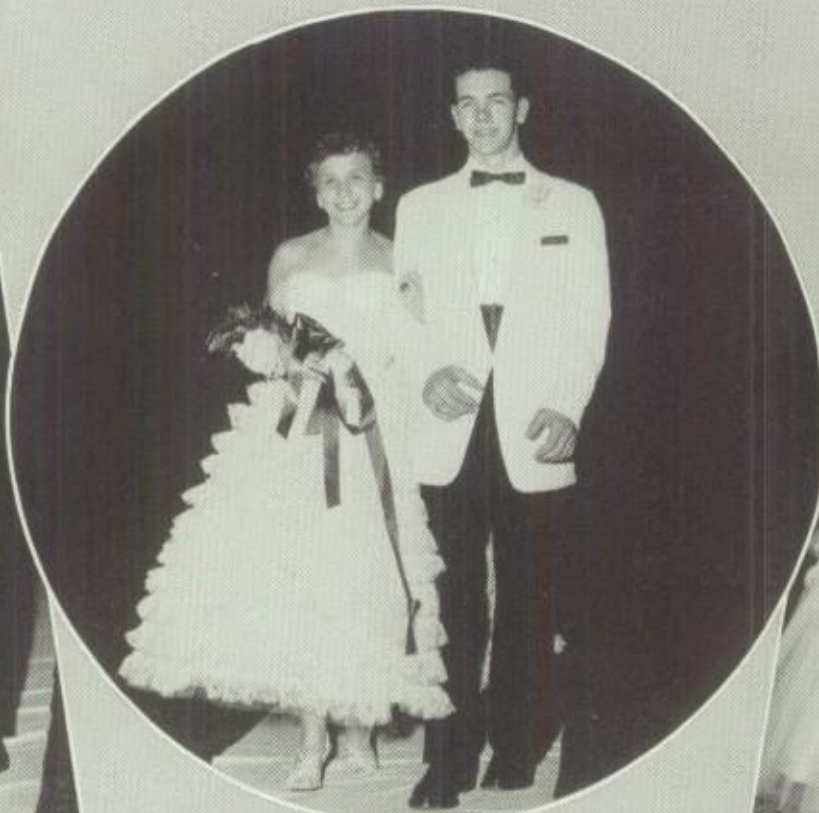

The after-school activities of CCHS are introduced on the following pages.

Dance on "Streets of Paris"

One of the most popular events of the year is the annual Junior-Senior Prom, which is sponsored by the junior class in honor of the seniors. The guests at the Prom were magically whisked off their feet and taken to the dream world of Paris, which was portrayed by murals of street scenes of Paris streets and sidewalks.

Pat Burns, escorted by Jerry Groves, was crowned Queen of the dance by the retiring queen, Dorothy Schwegler Verbeck, who was escorted to the throne by Bob Verbeck. Occupying the throne was hardly new to Pat since she was an attendant in the Homecoming Court this year, last year's prom, and the Homecoming Dance of 1956.

The Prom Attendants were Ann Morgan, escorted by Gary Michels; Carol Brooks, escorted by Jim Walker; Irene Wheeler, escorted by Lonnie Hopewell; and the special maid of honor, Vada Kirkland, escorted by Richard Avett. All attendants and the little flower girl carried bouquets of carnations.

The Paul Mullane Orchestra provided the dreamy music for this memorable event. Queen Pat chose for her dance "Tenderly."

Sandra Carr named queen

Highlighting the autumn season of many busy activities was the gala Homecoming Dance and the coronation of the new Homecoming Queen, Sandra Carr, who was escorted to the throne by Gary Chaney. Sandra was crowned Homecoming Queen by the retiring Queen, Betty Taylor Wallace, escorted by Jim Wallace. Queen Sandra wore an autumn blue taffeta dress covered with a layer of blue lace and carried a bouquet of white mums.

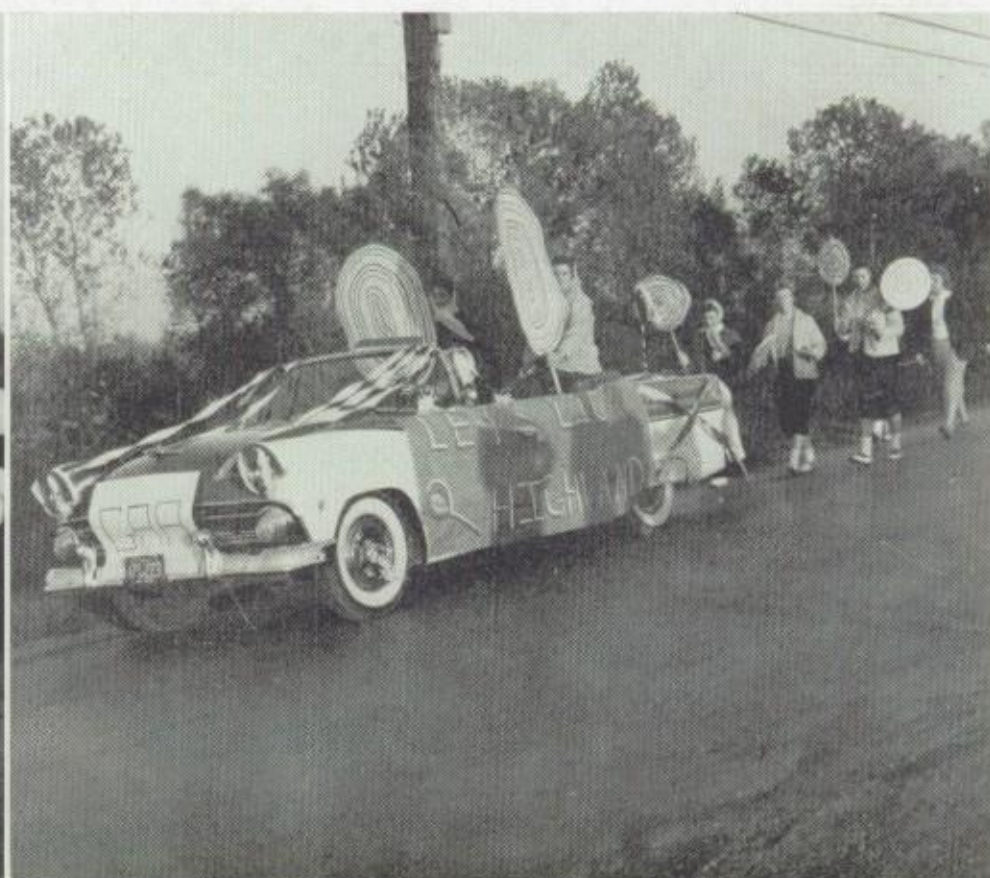

Preceding the retiring queen were the attendants, Ann Stearns, wearing white faille and escorted by Andy Babinsky; Kay Whittington, wearing black velvet and escorted by Dennis Nealon; Carol Brooks, wearing autumn blue chiffon and escorted by Jim Walker; and the special maid of honor, Sharon Ripplinger, wearing a printed taffeta dress and escorted by Dick Seibert. Each one of the attendants wore corsages of white carnations.

The music was provided by Richard Stolze and his orchestra. Queen Sandra chose as her dance "Tenderly."

FHA "toyland dance" ushers in Christmas season

The Future Homemakers of America held a pre-Christmas "Toyland Dance" on December 21. The gym was decorated in gold and white with a white-flecked ball hanging from the ceiling. The throne was gold and white with a garland in front of a gold background.

Escorted by Norman Hebel, Pat Fannin was crowned FHA Sweetheart of 1957 by retiring queen Carol Brooks. Carol's dress was gold and white trimmed in gold satin around the sleeves and neck. She was escorted by Jim Walker. Pat's dress was white nylon accented by a design of metallic gold threads and she carried white carnations.

The attendants were introduced by Herbert Rainbolt, chapter father, who read from a scroll presented to him by Page Jo Anne Weimer. Jo Ann Rainbolt, wearing a pink jersey, was escorted by Gary McBride; Fred Shumake escorted Linda Bradley, who was wearing a black taffeta dress; Vada Kirkland in a red taffeta dress, was escorted by Richard Avett; Sharon Duckworth, Maid-of-Honor, wore white brocade, and was escorted by Mike McDaniels. Each attendant carried white and gold carnations.

Dawgpatchers frolic for one evening

On March 8 all hillbillies of Dawgpatch attended the annual hilarious Sadie Hawkins Dance sponsored by the Girls' Athletic Association. Students, dressed as Dawgpatch residents, entered a cave from which they slid down a board into the gym. The gym was decorated with murals of hill country and schmoos. A grove of trees stood in the center. A rocking chair on the front porch of a building was the Queen's throne.

Chosen as "hillbilliest" couple were Sharon Bond and Howard Carmen. Hilda Padgett and Jeannie Pearl tied for the best-looking Sadies. Gary Simmons received a prize for having the longest beard.

Entertainment for the evening was furnished by Dick Seaton and his Blue Cats. GAA girls Margaret Morgan and Phyllis McNeese sang. Refreshments consisted of root beer, apple cider, and pretzels.

Sadie's and Lil Abner's invade Cahokia

The climax of the Dawgpatch Ball came as Jackie Zarzeck, escorted by Bob Willey, was chosen "Miss Sadie of 1958." Jackie was crowned by retiring queen, Ann Morgan, who was escorted by Terry Ennis. The crown for the new queen was an artistic broken jug. Jackie chose "Hey, Little Girl" for the Queen's dance.

Escorts for the queen and her court were dragged to the throne in typical Dawgpatch fashion. Sally Petterson, Maid-of-Honor, chased her Lil Abner, Gary Chaney, with a sling shot. First attendant, Margaret Morgan, ran after her escort, Dale Jung, with a pitch fork. Irma Hoffman, second attendant, trained a shot gun on her escort, Tony Bollinger. Third attendant, Judy Farmer, pulled Jerry Craft, her escort, in a red wagon. Ann Morgan, retiring queen, threatened her escort, Terry Ennis, with a rolling pin.

At the conclusion of the jamboree, most Sadies' took their "catches" out to dinner.

Council represents students

Eleven o'clock and time to meet once again! This thought was uppermost in the minds of student council members every Tuesday of the school year. Tuesday noons was the time set aside for the student representatives of Cahokia to meet and decide upon important school matters.

During the year Student Council sponsored many events. The sophomore initiation was slightly changed from previous years. The "sophs" came to school masqueraded as "injuns," war paint and all. Homecoming, the main Council activity of the year, was acclaimed a success even though the football game was lost. The Tiganche trophy was reluctantly returned to Dupon for the second year in a row. The Council sponsored the annual senior-faculty game for the benefit of the Student Council Scholarship Fund. The last notable event of the year was the sending of delegates to the state convention in Chicago.

The Student Council was sponsored by Mr. Leroy Sachs and Mr. William Brown.

Golden Torch worn by honor students

To be eligible for the National Honor Society, students must be of junior or senior standing. They must have a "B" average or over. The juniors must be in the upper ten per cent of their class while the seniors are required to be in the upper fifteen per cent. All eligible students' names are submitted to the faculty to be checked before final approval is given for membership.

Scholarship, service, leadership, and character are the qualifications on which the student is judged for entrance into the society. Mr. Leroy Sachs was sponsor.

This year the Carl Sandburg Chapter of the Quill and Scroll initiated only one member, Bob Willey. It is an honor to become a member of Quill and Scroll; since the requirements are rigid, few pass.

Quill and Scroll is a national honor society for high school journalists. To be eligible for Quill and Scroll, a student must be in the upper third of his class, at least a junior, and must have done outstanding work for either the newspaper or the yearbook.

Each new member receives a membership card, a gold pin, and a free subscription to the Quill and Scroll magazine.

Every Tuesday after school students who made up the Cahochron staff assembled in the Publications Room to work on the yearbook. Since the six preceding Cahochrons had received first-place ratings in national competition, the staff, under Editor Bob Willey, was busy mapping plans to preserve the same high standards for the 1957-58 Cahochron. Advisers for the book were Mr. Art Mills and Miss Iona Masten.

In editing a yearbook, each page goes through many stages before it is completed. For each page it is necessary to make a dummy, lay out the page for pictures and copy, take pictures and identify them, write copy and headlines, proofread the galleys, give a final "okay" to the completed page, and lastly, sell subscriptions.

The Cahochron was fortunate to have Bill Poston, senior, as photographer. Bill represented the Vincent Price Studio. The Cahochron was also fortunate in obtaining the services of two junior photographers, Bob Ledbetter and Larry Oden, sophomores.

The staff appreciated the professional advice and help so generously contributed by Mr. Harry Swain, engraver, and Mr. Norman Semmelroth, printer.

Deadlines! How they thrill me—fill me with fantastic terrors never felt before! This parody of Poe's famous line might aptly express the feelings of a reporter at 2 p.m. when he had to meet his deadline at 3 p.m. For no story by three meant minus one reporter at the next Monday Council Ring meeting.

In addition to meeting deadlines, Council Ring members planned the dummy, interviewed students and faculty for features, corrected copy, clipped and pasted galleys, and performed a "jillion" other routine jobs required in the publishing of a paper. A good citizen feature was started this year.

In order to learn new and better methods for publishing a high school paper, Miss Mabel Huffman, sponsor; Sharon Shaffer, editor-in-chief; and Barbara Williamson, page editor, attended the ISHPA convention in Champaign in October. In November Miss Huffman, Sharon, Barbara, Exchange Editor Jay Holder, and Reporter Sharon Gisher attended at Washington U. the first annual Interscholastic Press Conference of metropolitan St. Louis.

Mr. Edward Sluder and Mr. B. H. Franklin assisted Miss Huffman.

Red roses symbol of FHA

As usual, the Future Homemakers of America were busy with a full calendar, consisting mostly of annual projects. For each month two members were chosen to supervise the activity for the month.

The fall activities included a Kitchen Ranger Party to help the new members get acquainted, a "Ma and Pa" get-together, and the construction of the winning float in the homecoming parade. December was the month of the annual Christmas dance. This year the theme of the dance was "Toyland." Daddy-Date-Night was held in February, followed by a Thank-you Party for those who helped the FHA throughout the year. In May the monthly activities were concluded with a Mother-Daughter Banquet and the installation of new officers.

The Cahokia FHA actively participated in the area and state meetings of the organization.

Throughout the year FHA girls helped other groups by preparing and serving refreshments or dinners.

Mrs. Gladys Frazier capably directed the girls in their activities. The future homemakers met every Thursday afternoon or evening to plan and carry out their projects.

Papooses, beware of these

The Future Teachers of America began the year by changing the name of their club from the Harold C. Hand Future Teachers to Cahokia Future Teachers.

FTA'ers provided a nursery service at the Parent-Teachers Association meetings. They assisted grade teachers by helping with tests, taking playground duty, and substituting for teachers. In February, a potluck supper was given in honor of all the teachers of the district. The first graders who were housed in the Baptist and Methodist churches were adopted by the FTA and were given a special party, with "treats," at Christmas.

FTA held a bake sale, sponsored a hop, sold Christmas candy and magazines, and checked coats in order to raise funds for an educational trip in the spring. In other jaunts, the FTA visited the Missouri School for the Blind, attended the district FTA convention at Collinsville, the special education convention at Springfield, and the state convention at Greenville.

A formal candlelight initiation service was held for new members and the installation of officers.

Miss Helen Dunn was adviser for the group.

GAA is a girl's sports world

The whistle blows; the half is over. Girls get into position. It's time to play ball. Once again the GAA is in action.

The Girls' Athletic Association was divided into teams—the Mermaids, Cut-ups, Bravettes, Hep-cats, Cuties, and Glamazons. Every Tuesday from 3 to 5 p.m. the girls met for an hour of business and an hour of intramurals. Volleyball, basketball, softball, and kickpin baseball were the main sports played.

On October 5 the Cahokia GAA girls were hostesses for an area playday. All-Stars was the theme for the affair. The playday proved to be a tremendous success.

Besides participating in sports, the GAA sponsored many Comanche Hops and several big dances, with Sadie Hawkins the most famous. The girls took hikes, held a slumber party, and initiated new members. Miss Marie Mosby was adviser.

Now what do I do?

Mystery presented by seniors

"The Bride Regrets," the senior class play, was presented at the Jerome Grade School auditorium on April 12 and 13, 1957. The play was a murder mystery. The villain, played by Norris Angel, was a scoundrel who married rich young women, in this case Carolyn Carrico, for their money and then murdered them. The other boarders at the house where the play took place began to have suspicions concerning the murderer. The wife, however, was the last to learn of her husband's intentions.

The play was directed by Mr. Charles Mayer, with Mrs. Catherine Black as his assistant.

May silence prevail

"Please be quiet in the library," was sometimes repeated in one place where "silence is golden." This year Mrs. Vida Hunter, librarian, had fifteen assistant librarians to help enforce that golden rule.

The chief duties of the student librarians were to shelve books, file library cards, and prepare new books for shelving. They also helped create the attractive bulletin board displays.

The library work was voluntary and no credit was received for it. The assistant librarians met with Mrs. Hunter every Friday before school to learn about library procedures.

Shutterbugs inhabit dark

Shutterbugs, a club that often held meetings "in the dark," was organized for photography fans. Under "Chief Snapper" Charles Cappellin, the "bugs" took pictures of many school happenings, learned about picture developing, and took field trips. The high school dance band was organized to give as many band students as possible the chance to play dance music and to perform more advanced and intricate rhythms than are ordinarily found in concert band literature. The dance band offered a different type of music for various occasions such as parties, dances, and basketball games.

The band plays on Cahokia musicians reached a peak of achievement this year in winning the Illinois High School Association district music contest sweepstakes trophy. This trophy represents the combined success of vocalists and instrumentalists who entered the solo and ensemble contests as well as the high school band, mixed chorus, and girls' glee club. Cahokia students are justly proud of their music department.

in parades . . . over the air . . . for contests . . . at concerts . . .

The Cahokia high band under the direction of Mr. Bill Cohlmeier and his assistant Mr. Robert Yung added to the memorable hours of 1957-58. Several interesting formations were introduced by the marching band at the halftimes of the home football games. During the basketball season, the band took to the Comanche "roost."

In September the band marched down the streets of East St. Louis in the Labor Day parade. Later in the fall they marched in the Southern Illinois University's homecoming parade. On December 17, the band once again had the honor of playing for the graduation ceremonies at Parks Air College.

On December 8 a winter concert was given by the band. Early in the new year they appeared on a national TV program by playing for the "End of the Rainbow" show. At various times throughout the year they played for school assemblies at Cahokia and for assemblies in surrounding schools.

Many appearances were scheduled for the band in the spring. They gave a spring concert, played in the County Music Festival at Dupon on March 8, and on May 5, 6, and 7 went on tour of the Southland.

The IHSA district band contest was held at Cahokia this year. For the first time in four years the band entered the contest. The state contest was held in Effingham on April 18 and 19. The solo and ensemble groups participated in a contest on March 1.

Junior high girls spend their after-school hours in GAA and FHA

Through the efforts of the Junior High Student Council, all the junior high students benefited from a carefully-organized plan of activities. A March of Dimes campaign and the annual Christmas party were highlights of the year's work. Miss Helen Huffman advised the young councilmen.

Besides sports, junior highers could participate in FHA, GAA, choruses, and band. In FHA, girls were taught by Adviser Mrs. Sammylane Wirth to cope with the many responsibilities of a homemaker. GAA, sponsored by Miss Sarah Whitesell, emphasized coordination, poise, sportsmanship, and teamwork.

Many moments of music were provided by Mr. Frank Daniels' junior carolers. Junior band, under the baton of Mr. Russell Hammerschmidt, developed the musical abilities of young Comanches. Director Hammerschmidt was assisted by Mr. Charles Cappellin, Mr. Bill Cohlmeier, Miss Rosellen Hoerr, and Mr. Robert Yung.

Time Began

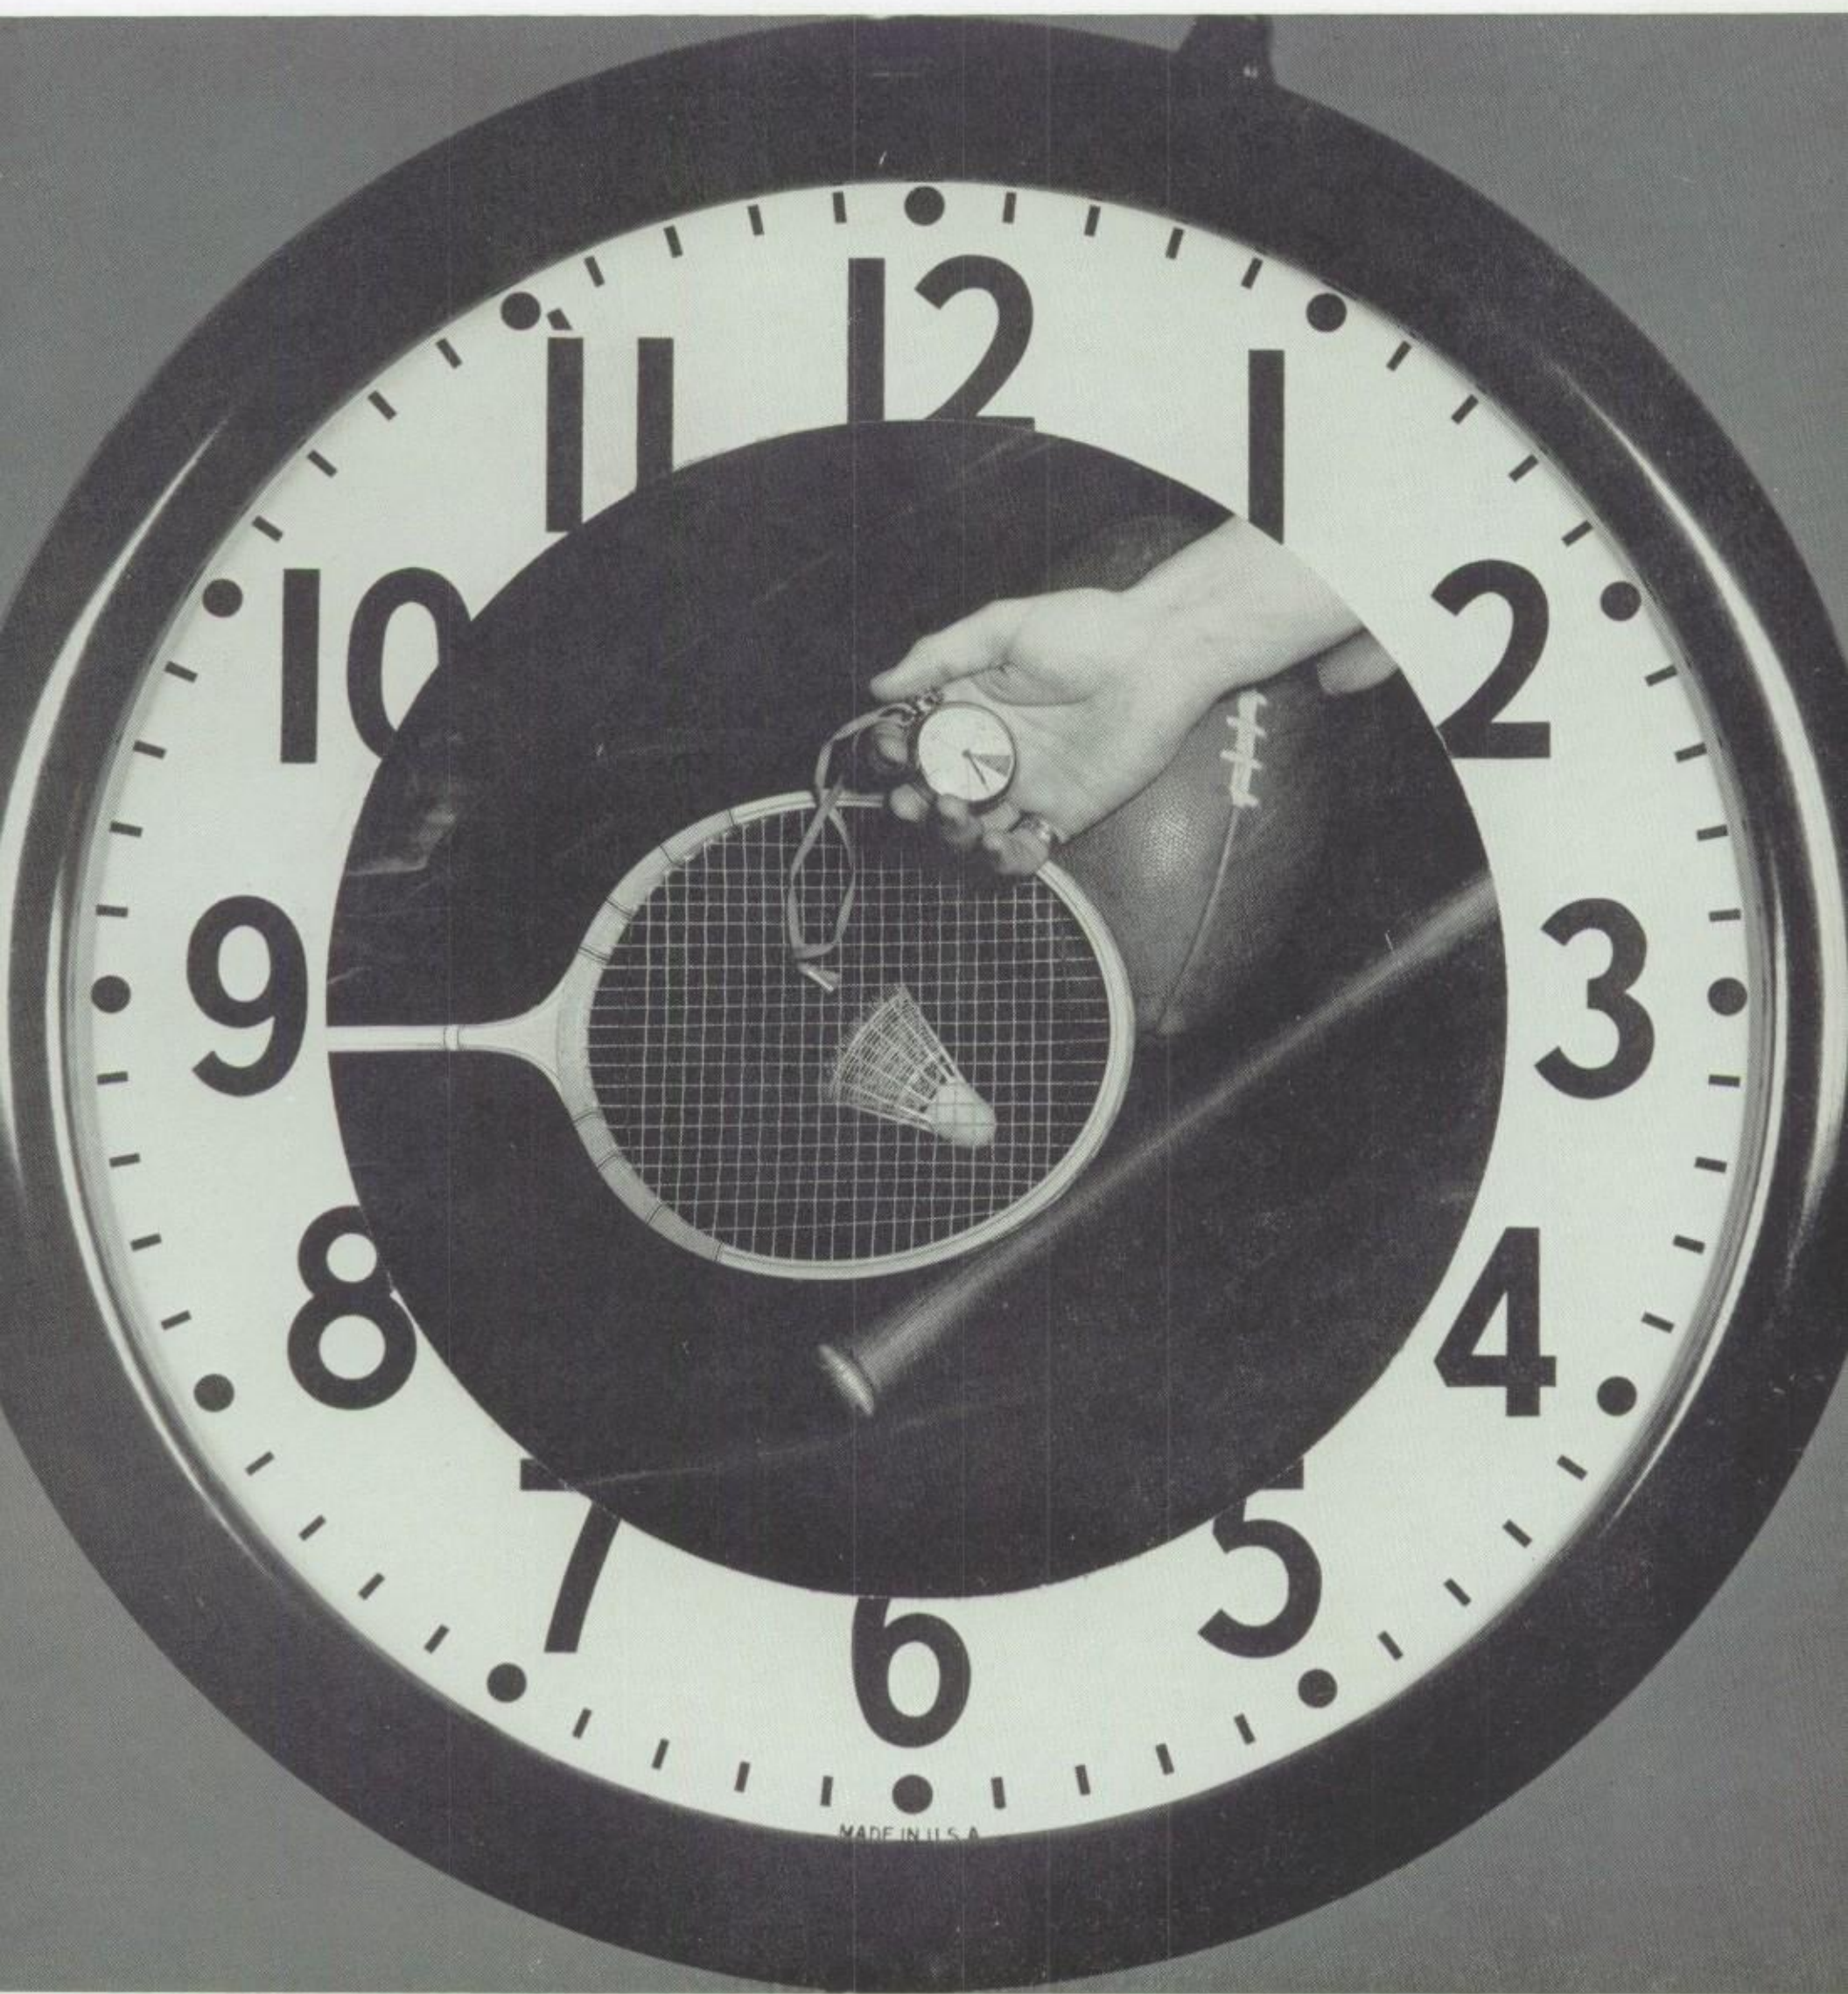

FOR SPORTS AT THE SOUND OF A WHISTLE BLOWING. From three o'clock in the afternoon until the end of an exciting game, the whistle was heard on the athletic field, from the track, on the blacktop playing area, or in the gymnasium.

The sports program in 1957-58 kept pace with CCHS's growth by the addition of wrestling to the sports format. From a hot September-day football game to the last track meet in May, sports filled a major portion of the activity calendar for the school year.

Although Cahokia's teams did not have perfect records, improvement over the past years was shown. The pep club and cheerleaders set the spark that ignited the school's enthusiasm.

The athletic record of CCHS is presented on the following pages.

First season's snow sparked

This football season was Cahokia's first under its new football coach, John Dal Santo. The team started the season in a deadlock when they tied Western Military Academy of Alton 14 to 14. In their next encounter on the gridiron they lost 13 to 7 to a very rugged Bethalto Eagles ballclub.

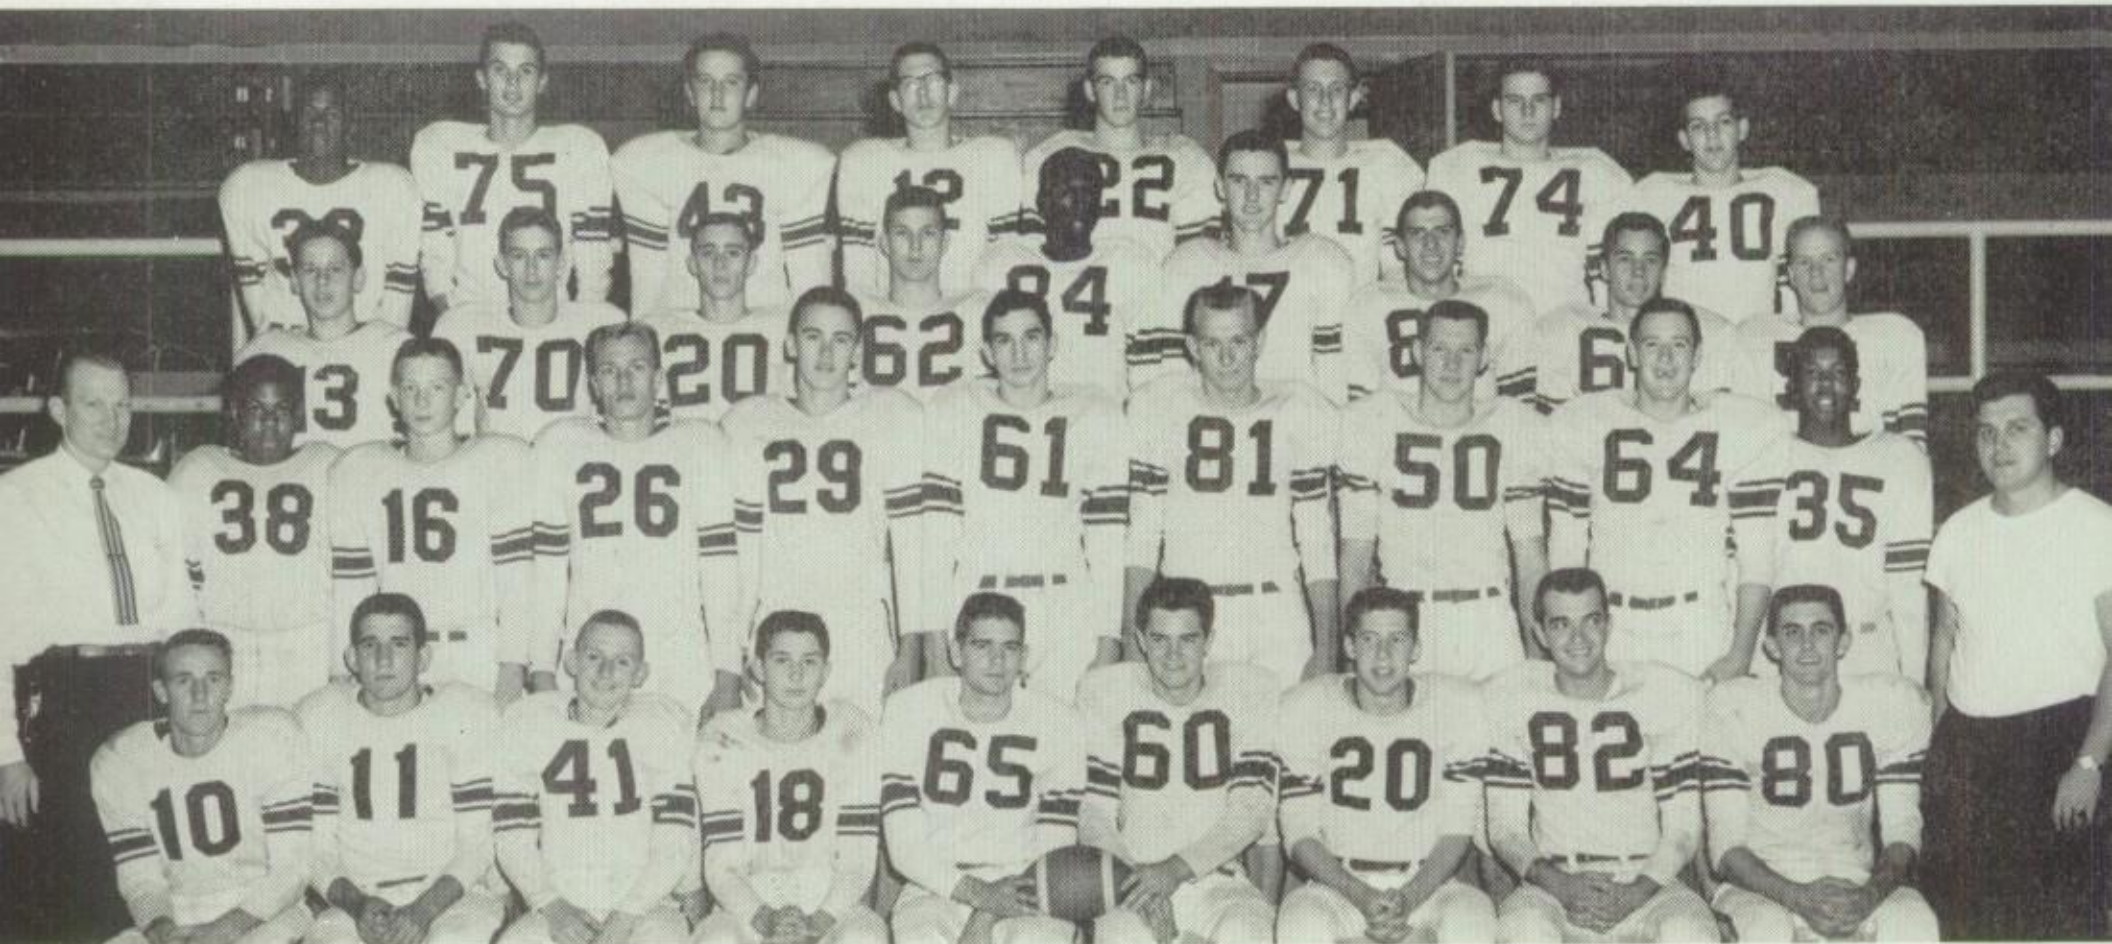

Injuries and flu had claimed some of the Comanches by this time and prospects were not bright. The next game was another heartbreaker for the team and the fans when a rugged Sparta team handed the Comanches an 18 to 0 defeat. A fine passing attack by the Comanches was to no avail when the Roxana Shells bombed the team with a 40 to 6 score.

The Highland Bulldogs won the annual Homecoming game at Cahokia 32 to 7. A scalping took place in the next game when traditional rival Dupo won by a score of 46 to 0. The Tiganche Trophy became the 'Tigers' for another year. The sixth straight loss was doled out to the Comanches by the Madison Trojans 54 to 0.

The final game ended on a happy note when the Comanches went on the warpath defeating the Sesser Red Devils 31 to 7.

Coats hustles cross country

The Cahokia thin-clads, although not too successful in wins, had something that it takes to win. It took a hustling spirit and a desire for victories to offset a team plagued with inexperience. Only three lettermen returned. However, the team showed that in time they should go on with the traditional winning of the thin clads.

In Cahokia's first outing they were defeated by Roxana by a score of 32 to 24. Captain Don Coats, senior, coming in first, Ed Hudlin, junior, Ed Davis and Willie Reed, sophomores, were the only scorers in the first ten.

In the Troy invitational meet in which fifty-six boys representing eight different schools were competing to win, the Comanches took sixth place. Don Coats took fourth place and received a medal for the two-mile course in 10:25.

Cahokia placed fourth in the Midwestern Conference cross-country meet held at Grand Marais State Park. Also, placing fifth was Don Coats, who again received a medal for his attempts.

In the Dupu meet, the Comanche thin-clads took third as a team; Don Coats took third and Ed Hudlin took tenth place. Each received a medal. In this meet a record was set and broken. The record of Gary McBride in which he ran the course in 10:19 was broken by a Dupu runner who completed the course in 10:13.

Coach Macleary organizes "Matmen"

Cahokia's first wrestling team was organized this year by Coach Jack Macleary, physical education instructor. On November 12 forty-eight senior high boys showed up for the first practice.

These inexperienced "matmen" lost their first match with Greenville 38-30, but won their second match when they threw Edwardsville for a 43-15 win. They lost the six following matches which were with Roxana, Granite City, Edwardsville, Vandalia, Roxana and Belleville. The "matmen" grunted their way to win a second time when they pinned St. Louis University High School.

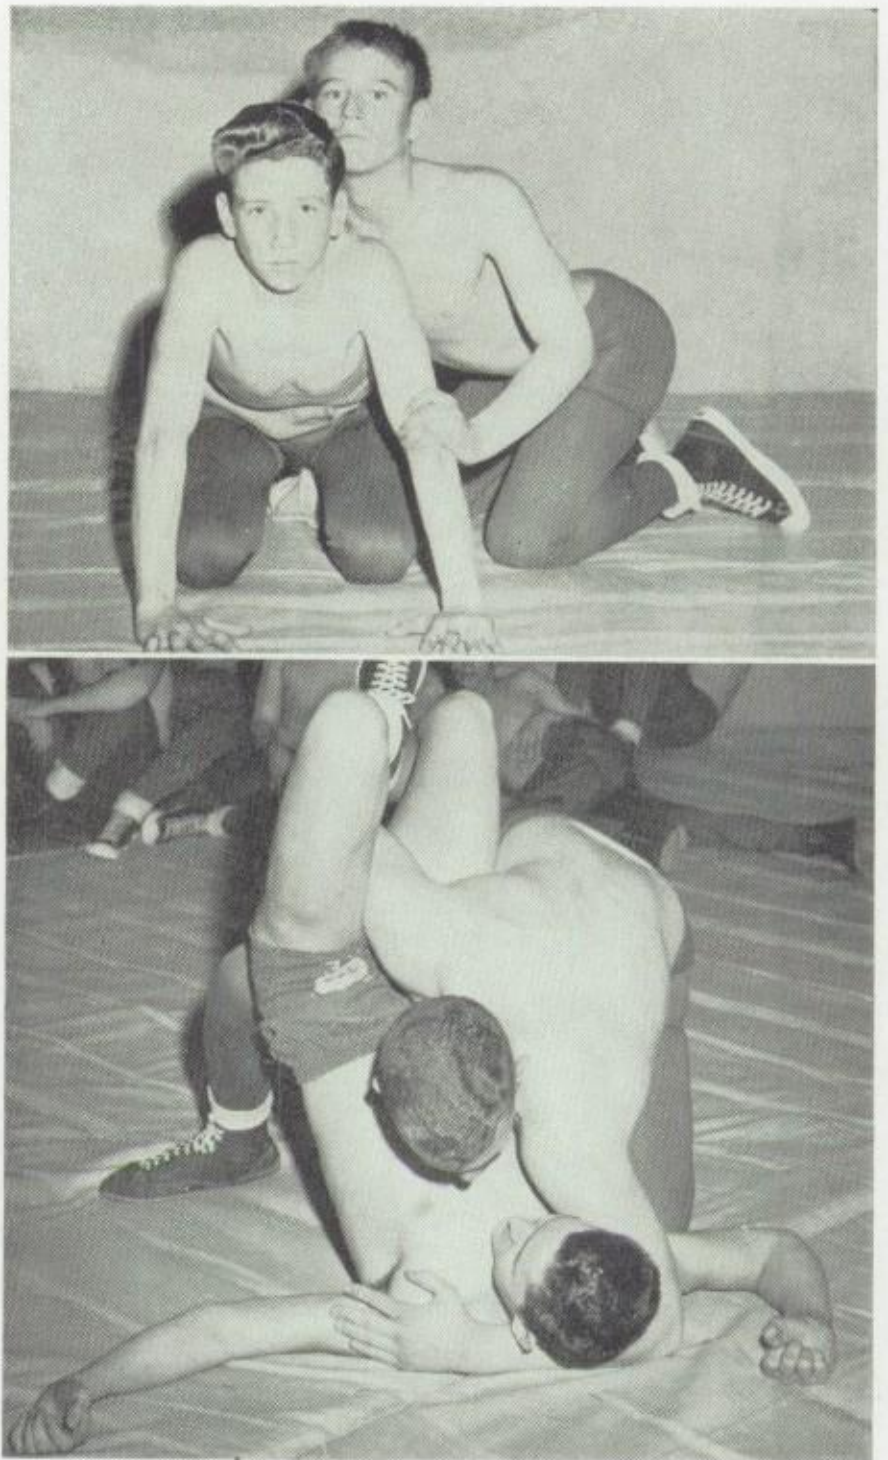

Of the five remaining matches Cahokia won two, ending the season with four wins and ten losses.

Ed Hudlin, junior, placed third in both the district and sectional meets. Bill Mulconnery placed fourth in the district meet at Wood River, but he was pinned in his first match of the sectional meet at Granite City. A win in the sectional at Granite City would have resulted in an entry in the State competition.

Ed Hudlin and Bill Mulconnery wrestled in every meet of the Comanches. They finished with 6-7 records.

Coaches Lee and Truran bring new spark to Comanches

Cahokia's basketball team this year had the best season in four years. They had a record of 7 wins and 18 losses. Cahokia fans enjoyed their first thrill of the season when the Comanches played Highland in a very tight ball game leading them much of the way. It was 44 to 42 with 30 seconds remaining, but Highland made two points to ice the game and came up with a 46 to 42 victory. Two games later the Comanches showed their heels to a very rugged Sparta team and emerged with a one point victory. Again the Comanches howled in the Freeburg tournament with a 62 to 61 victory over the Waterloo Bulldogs. On January 21 the Comanches started a three game winning streak by scalping O'Fallon Tech of St. Louis by a score of 62 to 49. They followed up this victory with their first conference win of the season by defeating Bethalto's Eagles 49 to 45. The Comanches came up with their third home court win of the campaign with a victory over Nashville. Their streak was snapped by Central of St. Louis by a score of 60 to 59. On February 18, they came up with another home victory over O'Fallon Tech. They followed with a home victory, their second conference win, by downing Bethalto.

When the lights go on again. . .
No one knows until it "swishes."
What do I do now, coach?

There must be a ball somewhere.

Walker, Larry Wheeler, Leon Cooper, Merle Smith, Jim Walker, Jack Forsting.

Coach Lee relied most of the season on Ron Parker, Dale Rodemich, Merle Smith, Gary Chaney, and Leon Cooper. Parker and Rodemich were seniors, who at the first of the season were not on the starting five, but by hard work became starters. Smith and Chaney were both Juniors who played regularly all season. Cooper was one of the leading rebounders and one of the most outstanding sophomores in the area.

Coach "Pete" Truran's junior varsity team compiled a neat 10-11 record for the season. The teams played and won were: Freeburg 43-42; Carlyle 38-30; Freeburg 48-40; Sparta 41-35; Mascoutah 67-44; O'Fallon Tech 55-30; Central, St. Louis 47-36; O'Fallon Tech 78-39; Highland 87-43; Bethalto; 53-36; Those teams played to whom the junior varsity lost; Granite City 38-30; Highland 51-36; Madison 46-39; Dupo 43-34; Roxana 47-44; Bethalto 37-36; Nashville 53-41; Roxanna 54-42; Dupo 56-29; Madison 65-35; Belleville 60-45.

Comanche cheering sections

As one of the most essential units in team support, our Comanche cheerleaders came through to give the Cahokia athletic teams strong backing and loyal support. Despite numerous interruptions in the varsity squad's lineup, these Comanche squaws never failed in organization or a chance to be efficient in their cheering duties.

Standing: Sally Petterson, Jo Ann Bess, Sandra McBride, Judy Rodgers, Mary Jane Bruns. Kneeling: Jeanie Pearl, Suzanne Weber, Ann Baggett.

Composed of nothing but Comanche varsity lettermen this club is one of the most distinctive organizations of the athletic department. Coach John Dal Santo is the new sponsor, and with the club has helped these athletes become better organized at C.C.H.S. Selling decals, athletic programs and serving at the FHA Daddy Date Night are a few of the club's services.

The Comanche Pep Club was newly organized this year and has proven a valuable cheering unit despite its state of infancy. Succeeding a Pep Club of the past, this new one has already shown the enthusiasm of the Cahokia Comanches to back their team in both the sweetness of victory and the bitterness of defeat.
